REASONS FOR SUPPORTING ORDINANCE.

What the Construction of the Uniontown, Waynesburg & West Virginia Railroad Will ACCOMPLISH FOR WHEELING.

Pertinent Questions Arent the Railroad Answered in a Plain, Convincing Manner.

The Intelligencer this morning prints its railroad catechism, for the information of those of Wheeling's and Ohio county's voters who have not informed themselves in relation to the county's subscription of $500,000 to the stock of the Uniontown, Waynesburg & West Virginia Railroad Company in the event that the bond issue is successful at the special election on July 17. In this article, one Wheeling citizen propounds the questions and another, having studied the matter carefully, gives the answers. The questions are those that are most frequently asked by the average voter in search of enlightenment on the railroad proposition, and a careful perusal is commended to readers of the Intelligencer.

Q—What is the name of the corporation to which Ohio county is asked to subscribe $500,000?

A—The Uniontown, Waynesburg & West Virginia railroad.

Q—Where are its termini?

A—Its eastern terminus is Uniontown, Pennsylvania, and its western terminus is Bellaire, Ohio, via Wheeling.

Q—Is the road to run through Moundsville?

A—It will not touch within 8 miles of Moundsville.

Q—What road is it that is expected to run through Moundsville?

A—The Pittsburgh, Connellsville & Wheeling railroad, which is entirely a separate and distinct enterprise.

Q—How much will the Uniontown, Waynesburg & West Virginia railroad cost to complete it?

A—About $5,000,000.

Q—What will be the extent in mileage of the Uniontown, Waynesburg & West Virginia railroad?

A—The distance from Uniontown, Pa., to Wheeling, is 71 miles, and from Wheeling to Bellaire, five miles, making a total length of 76 miles.

Q—How will the road reach Bellaire?

A—By a railroad bridge across the Ohio river.

Q—How many miles of this railroad will be built in West Virginia?

A—Twenty-two miles.

Q—Will not the greater part of the West Virginia portion of the railroad run through Marshall county?

A—Yes. And Marshall county will be asked to contribute her share in a free right of way.

Q—What will be the character of the road through that twenty-two miles in West Virginia?

A—The road will require twenty-two substantial bridges built of steel and masonry; besides two tunnels, one of which within the limits of the city of Wheeling will cost about $300,000, so that about all of the $500,000 that Ohio county is asked to subscribe will be spent in our own community, and from which Wheeling will derive a direct benefit.

Q—Is not $500,000 too much money for Ohio county to invest in this enterprise?

A—No. Every dollar that Ohio county ever invested in railroad enterprises has been a profitable investment.

Q—But suppose Ohio county should lose the $500,000 in the same manner by which she lost the $300,000 invested in the Wheeling Bridge & Terminal Railway Company. Can we afford to run that risk?

A—Yes. The $300,000 invested in the Wheeling Bridge & Terminal Railway Company has been repaid to Ohio county in many ways; and following that precedent, if Ohio county was assured she would lose all of the $500,000 it would be profitable to this community. Ohio county can afford to GIVE $500,000 to have this road built.

Q—Is there any danger that Ohio county will pay out the $500,000 and then not get the road?

A—No. The ordinance upon which the people are to vote on July 17 provides that $150,000 is to be paid to the railroad company when there shall have been expended by the railroad corporation at least $450,000. The second installment of $150,000 shall be paid by Ohio county when there shall have been expended by the railroad corporation at least $300,000; or in other words, the railroad corporation must spend $300,000 before we pay it $150,000, and the balance of $200,000 shall not be paid by Ohio county until the road is completed and trains are running into a station located in this city. So that it is not possible for us to invest the money unless we get the road.

Q—What are the prospects that the road will be a paying one, or that we shall ever receive anything on our investment?

A—The projectors of the Uniontown, Waynesburg & West Virginia railroad assure us they have contracts for 4,000 tons of freight per day upon the completion of the road. And that that business is entirely independent of local freight and passenger traffic. Beside this, every industrial establishment, every wholesale and retail business, and every workingman will derive incalculable benefit from the railroad by the opening up and development of a virgin territory whose inhabitants are all anxious to be put in touch with Wheeling, and who will trade with us; bringing to our city their products and taking away with them our merchandise.

Q—How do our mills now obtain their supply of coke?

A—By the way of Pittsburgh. Every ton of coke must first go to Pittsburgh before coming to Wheeling.

Q—What will be the saving in freight to our mills by transporting coke direct over the proposed Uniontown, Waynesburg & West Virginia railroad?

A—Every steel mill in this community will save fifty cents on each and every ton of coke, thereby putting them on an equality with Pittsburgh, so far as freight rates are concerned.

Q—How may we be assured of this?

A—The ordinance upon which we are to vote on July 17, guarantees that the Uniontown, Waynesburg & West Virginia railroad shall not charge for transportation a greater rate for freight than is legally charged between Connellsville and Pittsburgh on any other railroad.

Q—What benefit will Wheeling derive from cheaper freight rates?

A—Wheeling and vicinity will be put upon an equality with Pittsburgh, and be enabled to manufacture her steel products for 50 cents per ton cheaper than she does now, which in dull seasons means the steady operation of our steel plants giving steady employment to labor. Fifty cents per ton means $350,000 per annum to this community.

Every man employed in a manufacturing, every man employed in a whole-sale or retail store, should vote "For Subscription" on July 17, because the building of the Uniontown, Waynesburg & West Virginia railroad means increased business and steadier employment "to every mother's son of us."

HALL THE WINNER.

The Wheeling Man Expects to Win the Nomination for Auditor on the First Ballot at the Charleston Convention—His Friends Gathering at the Capital.

The Intelligencer talked with Hon. James K. Hall, the first district candidate for auditor on the Republican state ticket, who is now in Charleston, over the long distance telephone last night, and his friends will be delighted to learn that "Jim" expects to win the auditorial nomination on the first ballot. Said he:

"I have opened headquarters at the Ruffner, being the first candidate on the scene, and my friends are coming in now on every train. I have reports from every county in the state, and am in a position to predict that I will be nominated for auditor on the first ballot. The situation could not be more favorable from my point of view."

The advance guard of the Ohio county delegation will go to Charleston Sunday, and the delegation and rosters will take the special Ohio River train on Tuesday morning.

There has been some talk of slight local opposition to Mr. Hall, but it is not believed there are over three men on the Ohio county delegation who are not heart and soul interested in his success, and these will find they can ill afford to buck against the home man when they see the strength he will have in the convention.

PERSONAL NOTES.

Going and Coming of Wheeling People and Visitors.

N. E. Whitaker, of Wheeling, was a guest at the Monongahela house yesterday. He was on his way to Washington, D. C., on personal business. In discussing the general situation regarding China, Mr. Whitaker said that if all the stories are true, regarding the position that the rulers of China had taken in declaring war against the civilized world, President McKinley would soon be compelled to call an extra session of Congress to deal with the matter, as this country was vitally interested in the outcome and particularly regarding the loss of the lives of American citizens. While not posing as an expert in the condition of affairs in China, nor of the condition of the people there to wage war, Mr. Whitaker expressed the opinion that a conflict with that country would mean a long and bloody one for the Chinamen, which would in the end terminate with their destruction as a nation.—Pittsburgh Times.

The Trades Assembly's Action.

The Trades Assembly of Wheeling at their meeting Sunday passed a resolution asking the voters to vote down the proposition for $500,000 to be taken in stock in the Uniontown, Waynesburg & West Virginia railroad on the grounds that "the company building the road is rich and able to build it, and the finances of the county will not allow the application of such a sum." We always thought the building of railroads helped the laboring man, but the West Virginia fellows may be looking through other glasses. One thing sure, a road from this section will be of incalculable value to Wheeling and her business interests, and what helps Wheeling helps Ohio county.—Waynesburg Independent.

THE FINAL SESSION OF ODD FELLOWS

Held Yesterday at Which the Reports of the Various Committees Were Adopted.

NEXT MEETING AT RED STAR.

A Widows' and Orphans' Home to Be Founded—Other Business Transacted.

The second day's session of the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows was convened at Odd Fellows' hall at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The meeting opened with devotional exercises, led by the Rev. James Hargrow, district grand chaplain, of Alderson. District Grand Master S. B. Morgan, then appointed committees on resolutions, insurance, widows and orphans, auditing and accounts and endowment. They then adjourned pending the reports of these committees.

Upon reassembling, the resolutions committee, composed of G. W. Holley, A. P. Straughter, F. W. Wright, William Howard and G. W. Hughes, recommended that the secretary be given power to issue a special annual return sheet, with a form of credentials attached, same to be furnished to the subordinate lodges throughout the jurisdiction at the cost of printing; that any lodge failing to send annual lodge sheet thirty days prior to the convening of the grand lodge, shall be fined, that the district grand lodge meet the last Thursday in August rather than the first Thursday in July; that all subordinate lodges entertaining the district grand lodge charge each of the officers and delegates one dollar per day board expenses, the money to be distributed among the members of the lodge that entertained them. They also submitted resolutions, thanking the various railroads for reduced rates, also the mayor and chief of police for courtesies shown them and protection given officers and delegates along the line of the parade Thursday. They also extended heartfelt thanks to members of Uric lodge, for their general hospitality and royal entertainment. They also resolved that the delegates carry home with them lessons of courtesy and hospitality shown them at the metropolis of the state; that they regretted that it was impossible for James McHenry Jones, who will be the fraternal delegate to England, to be present at the sessions; that they wished him much success on his trip abroad and requested him to meet with the district grand lodge at their next session, which will be held in the hall of the Sons of Harvey No. 3,910, at Red Star.

The auditing committee, consisting of F. H. Jackson, P. J. Tinsley, R. A. Arrington, E. S. Peck and G. W. Hughes, reported that they had audited the books of the secretary and treasurer and found them to be correct in every detail.

The committee on widows and orphans reported they had found forty-five widows and eighty-four orphans in the state; they had been cared by the various subordinate lodges in the state. They recommended that more be done for the widows and orphans than had been done in the past and that the district grand lodge secure a home for the widows and orphans somewhere in the state.

The committee on insurance, after examining the annual return sheets and finding over two-thirds of the lodges had real and personal property insured, recommended that the property of all the lodges be properly insured. They recommended that an insurance plan be adopted and a committee be appointed to have sole power over all regulations and rules governing the same.

After receiving and adopting the various committee, R. A. Arrington moved that the business of electing officers for the ensuing year be gone into. The election resulted as follows:

G. W. Holley, of Hinton, district grand master; John Noel, of Nuttallburg, deputy district grand master; G. W. Hughes, of Huntington, district grand secretary; G. W. Jackson, of Montgomery, district grand treasurer; F. W. Wright, of Wheeling, district grand director.

After the election of officers the district grand master made the following appointments: James Hargrove, of Alderson, to be district grand chaplain; N. T. Walton, of Charleston, to be district grand warden, and J. D. Morris, of Fire Creek, to be district grand guardian. Adjournment was then in order.

In the evening the Rev. D. D. Perkins, of Huntington, delivered the annual sermon, after which the auditing committee submitted a complete report. The business of the order being then complete, they adjourned to meet at Red Star, July 4, 1901.

The various officers and delegates will depart for their several homes on the early trains this morning.

A CALIFORNIAN'S

Successful Experiments with Food.

A gentleman in Oak Park, Calif., Henry Pockwinse, took up the question of food, to see if he could recover from an old case of dyspepsia, from which nux vomica, pepsin and other remedies gave him no relief.

He started in with Grape-Nuts breakfast food and his dyspepsia quickly disappeared. He also left off the use of coffee and took Postum Food Coffee in its place. He writes that he has been put right, perfectly well, and going to remain so by continuing the use of the Grape-Nuts food and Postum Coffee.

It is worth anyone's trial, and particularly to leave off coffee. Grape-Nuts food contains elements that rebuild the grey matter in the nerve centers and brain and give one a feeling of reserve strength and vigor. This food is perfectly cooked at the factory, can be served instantly, and is on sale at all first-class grocers.

THE STATE TEACHERS

The last session of the West Virginia Educational Association at Parkersburg, met at 9:30 Friday morning, and opened with the singing of "Come Thou Almighty King," by members of the association. Devotional exercises were conducted by Superintendent Fleming, of the Parkersburg High school.

A paper, subject, "The transmission from grammar school to high school," was read by Professor H. B. Work, principal of the Wheeling High school. It was a thoughtful, well written and well read paper, and was particularly well received by the audience.

Thomas C. Miller discussed the subject, "Equal wages for the sexes for performing the same labor." His talk was plain and practical. He took a wider view than merely that relating to the teaching profession. He spoke of it as a social, logical question, which must be met in the near future. Selections by the High school orchestra were greatly enjoyed.

Professor U. S. Fleming opened the discussion of the subject, "Reading the basis of unification." He was followed by Professors Corby, Crago, Laidley and others.

After a short recess, E. L. Goodwin, of the Grafton High school, opened the subject, "The true disciplinarian." He gave several characteristics. He was followed by H. A. Darnall, superintendent of Buckhannon schools, who gave as his opinion, that his governors best, who seems not to govern at all. He spoke of the ability to get every one to cheerfully do the work required and understand the nature of the child. U. I. Jenkins, of Ravenswood, followed in nearly the same strain. There is a difference between discipline and control. The true disciplinarian will teach respect for authority. The child should be led not forced to submit to authority.

Miss Elizabeth Cohan, superintendent of the Industrial School of Girls, read a paper describing the workings of the school over which she presides. It was a well written production and was listened to with the deepest attention by all, and many eyes were wet with tears as they listened to the recital of what was going on day after day at the home, of the efforts being made to transform these lives from misery to happiness and usefulness. There were but few dry eyes in the audience at the close of the reading of the paper.

The first business of the afternoon, was the report of the committee on resolutions. It favored such legislation as will make our schools better, the usual vote of thanks, &c., &c.

The committee on the nomination of officers reported the following officers for the ensuing year:

President—State Superintendent of Schools.

Secretary—A. J. Wilkinson.

Treasurer—Thomas C. Miller.

Vice presidents—First district, D. T. Williams; Second district, A. C. Kimler; Third district, George S. Laidley; Fourth district, U. S. Fleming.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of $72.50.

The president was authorized to procure a lecturer of national reputation for the next meeting of the association.

Dr. Gardiner, of Salem college, gave an address on "Higher Education," which was a well prepared address in every respect. The subject was further discussed by Dr. E. M. Turner.

The committee on obituaries reported concerning the deaths of Prof. L. C. Woolery and A. S. Porentar, who have passed the way of all the earth since the last meeting of the association, highly eulogizing their worth as men and their good work as teachers.

The Wheeling teachers attending the meeting were: Superintendent Anderson, Principals Work, Hammond and Crago, and Miss A. M. Wilson and Caddie Watt, of Ritchie school. There were about 150 teachers in attendance.
